PRESS RELEASE:

The Sumter County School District has reviewed the data from last year's assessment from each school and has taken steps to identify the strengths and weaknesses that we think will play a role in improving students' performance.

We have put additional resources at the schools that are on the failing list and have monitored implementation of various programs designed to improve student's performance. We believe that those resources and addressing weaknesses found in the data will lead to the same results as before when we had four schools come off the list the previous year.
